MONDAY AFTERNOON, JAN. 24.

"ICHABOD" in the Rome Commercial, patriotically declares that "this country needs three things—the adoption of Gordon's financial views, the general circulation of Ben. Hill's great speech, and a dog law."

THE board of education for Richmond county have decided, with only one dissenting voice, to establish high schools. The cause of popular education is sweeping on, and every enterprising town must get into the current to hold its own.

THE Thomaston Herald also thinks there is great danger in a constitutional convention at this time, and presents one of THE CONSTITUTION'S recent articles on the subject with editorial honors. The press of the state is divided on the subject; so are the people, and under such circumstances a convention should not be held in a presidential year.

THE Rome Courier sounds a note of warning in the following paragraph that should be taken up in every part of the state:

The reports of murder, red-handed and foul, are becoming frequent throughout the state, and the people should begin to devise some means to stop them. The good name of our state was never in more deadly peril than now, and we do beseech our people everywhere to see to it that dishonor and ruin are not brought upon us by the flawless acts of desperate men. The governor should offer a reward for the murderer, and the law should be enforced to its severest extent.

"P. W." in the Augusta Chronicle thus ventilates his views on the proposed sale of the State road:

Mr. Turnbull, of Banks, has introduced a resolution for the appointment of a committee to consider and report as to the advisability of selling the road, subject to the terms of the lease. There will be many who will favor the sale if the road can be sold to advantage. The property now pays 5 per cent on a valuation of $6,000,000. If it could be sold for this amount and the proceeds applied to paying off the liabilities of the state, the bonded debt could be reduced to a little over $2,000,000. As the account now stands the state receives 5 per cent for the use of its property, and pays out 7 per cent to the holders of its bonds, a difference in the state of $20 in the thousand, or in other words, while the state receives $300,000 a year for $6,000,000 of property, is pays out in interest to those who hold $6,000,000 of her bonds—supposing the average rate of interest 7 per cent—$420,000 per year, which shows an annual loss to the state of $120,000, that is, if the road could be sold for $6,000,000; and there are those who believe that it could be readily sold for this amount, subject to the lease. If this be true, it does not require much argument to convince the people that it would be to the interest of the state to sell the road and pay off $6,000,000 of the public debt with the proceeds.

"A HAPPY divinity," says the Rome Courier, "seems to preside over the deliberations of Gov. Smith when called upon to appoint an officer to a place of public trust. All of his appointees have been very good, but none better than his recent judicial appointments, Judges Peeples and Richard H. Clarke. Both of these gentlemen are eminently capable and in the highest degree trustworthy, and we do most cordially congratulate the governor upon the wisdom of his choice. Judge Peeples goes upon the superior bench, and Judge Clarke upon the city court of Atlanta. Especially in the case of Judge Richard H. Clarke is the governor to be felicitated, not only for the excellence of his appointment, but for the unselfish patriotism which prompted it. Judge Clarke had no wealthy friends to back him nor could he bring an influential political following to propitiate the interest of the governor. He had nothing but a diamond pure character, a golden integrity and a sound ability to commend him."

RELATIVE to the senatorial contest which begins to "loom" in the minds of politicians, the Macon Telegraph says:

That Mr. Hill is a candidate for senatorial honors, certainly has not authoritively transpired in Georgia. The great commoner has hardly gotten warm yet in his seat, and can do yeoman service where he is. Nor have we heard a word of complaint against the watchful, polished Norwood. One would think that his great deliverances in the senate which place him on a par with the brightest intellects in that body, his unfaltering devotion to Georgia, his masterly arraignment of radical usurpations and enormities, his merciless and scathing rebukes of the party which has so long wronged and oppressed the south, and his noble and courteous bearing as citizen, christian and statesman, would disarm all opposition to his future continuance in office. But unfortunately, that wet blanket to all real progress and ripe statemanship, rotation in office for rotation sake, has, since the advent of small men growing out of universal suffrage, become of too frequent application. In the best days of the government the thought of ousting a Calhoun, Webster, Berrien, Clay, or Benton for no fault, but merely to make way for new aspirants, would have been viewed in the same light as an attempt to strike the sun from the firmament. Unless Mr. Norwood, therefore, should go back on his record and prove derelict to duty and the welfare of his constituents, why displace a democrat of stainless escutcheon and distinguished ability, who is emphatically sans peur sans reproche?

Wrestling Match.

CHICAGO, January 24.—In a wrestling match for $1,000 a side, Rigal threw Canteron. The wrestle was very exciting.

The Bunker Hill Committee.

CHARLESTON, January 23.—The Boston committee in charge of the Bunker Hill souvenirs for the southern commands, which visited Boston last June, arrived this morning, and were well received at the depot by a committee of Washington light infantry.

They have received much attention from prominent citizens during the day, and attended divine services at the ancient colonial church of St. James, on Goose creek, fifteen miles from the city. The presentation of souvenirs will take place next Thursday evening.

Sonora Revolution.

TUCSON, January 24.—The revolutionists defeated the state troops who had been to Guaymas for supplies, capturing treasure, arms, etc. Serna's headquarters is Hermisallo. Nearly all the neighboring towns have declared for him. The state's headquarters is Aguia, 75 miles north of Guaymas, where they have 1,100 men.

AMERICA ABROAD.

Foreign Views on Our Politics—The Pay of Our Diplomats—General News of Incident and Accident.

LONDON, January 24.—The American matters are occupying considerable Attention here. The international regetta, rifle match, spelling bees, reduction of diplomatic salaries, and general award, are all the topics of discussion.

The Times thinks that the defeat of Holman's motion against specie payments, foreshadows the effacement of the inflationist section of democrats at the next election.

The Standard thinks that the government escaped a great danger in Sherman's proposed equalization of the monetary system of America and England. It was naturally greeted very warmly in principle, but was quite impracticable.

The Daily Telegraph compass'onates the envoys on a reduction of their salaries. It says: the best thing the envoy accredited to the Emperor Francis Joseph of Austria could do, would be to live at a hotel and dine at a table d'hote. He thinks it barely possible for a gentleman in that position to live with dignity on fourteen thousand dollars unless he has a private fortune, and can't see how such ministers at The Hague can live unless they diet themselves on salt herrings, Dutch cheese and hard boiled eggs.

The people of Dublin formed a committee to ask queen or prince of Wales to visit Ireland next summer.

Mother Stewart of whisky war renown in Ohio, made her appearance in the hall of the national temperance league at London.

The Russian imperial academy of sciences, elected as corresponding members, Prof. Newcomb of the naval observatory at Washington, D. C., Professor Gould, of the Argentine republic, and Prof. Whitney, of New Haven.

The international society is very noisy in Belgium. The workmen are demanding bread without payment.

Nillson's husband is regarded as dangerously ill.

Rubenstein the pianist, is threatened with total blindness.

There was armed intimidation at Arcos, Andalusia, to prevent ex-Minister Rodriguez continuing his candidacy for Spanish cortes. The mayor with sword in hand threatened Rodriguez life if he remained. Liberal papers of Madrid denounce the outrage in face of the government decree regulating the press.

A German squadron of three iron clads and one tender, visit America in July.

LONDON, January 23.—The total number killed in the railway accident near Huntingdon was thirteen. Among them was the son of Dion Boucicault.

LONDON, January 23.—George Harney, the Scotch painter, is dead.

HAVANA, January 23.—The journals here assert that the sugar crop will certainly be 30 per cent less than last year's They also consider the coming tobacco crop of Vuelta Abija almost totally destroyed during the drought.

RAGUSA, January 23.—The Turks are concentrating an attempt to revictual Trebinge.

BELGRADE, January 23.—The skuptchina has unanimously adopted war estimates.

PARIS, Jan. 23.—A second meeting of the senatorial delegates of the department of the Seine was held to-day. Laboulaye, Thiers, Hugo and Gambetta were present. The meeting failed to complete the list of candidates for the senate. The republicans are opposing the suggestion of Gambetta and Laboulaye that a list be made to represent the three groups of the left. The discussion was adjourned until Wednesday.

LONDON, January 24.—The Times reviews Secretary Fish's note on Cuba and circular to European powers. It says the grounds for complaint exclusively refer to the United States and Spain, and third parties cannot participate in the negotiations with any prospect of international advantage. Spain and America must settle their differences for themselves. The risk of loss if either resorts to force is too serious to be rashly incurred. It is possible, however, that the European powers might help to promote a compromise, which, while saving the honor of Spain, would end the Cuban difficulty. The article after quoting an assertion of the anti-slavery society in their memorial to Lord Derby, that Spain is willing to grant Cuba the rights of a self-governing province, on condition that slavery be retained; points to the contrast drawn by Mr. Fish between the British colonial system and the despotic system of Spain, and concludes:

"If two governments are agreed as to the end, there should be little difficulty in devising the means. Slavery need occasion little controversy. Cuba with a practically independent legislature would soon find abolition necessary. The island would probably be badly governed, but the war would be ended and Cuba allowed to develop her resources."

Cardinal Antonelli has an alarming relapse.

Bodsky, the Odessa merchant, has been released but is forced to leave Russia.

The Austrian corps of observation, 50,000 strong, is being concentrated on the Dalmatian border.

LONDON, Jan. 24—Right Hon. Hugh C. Eardley Childeress has started for Canada.

Derangement of telegraph still continues. Council and other dispatches between here and Liverpool and elsewhere are greatly delayed.

LONDON, January 24.—The bark Lalla Rookh, from Havre for Tybee, which put into Plymouth leaking after a collision, has proceeded on her voyage, having finished repairs.

MADRID, January 24.—A second ballot, which was required at Barcelona, took place yesterday. The Sagastini candidate withdrew and Castellar was, therefore, probably elected. Canados del Castillo, Lopez de Alla, Romero Robledo and Aug. Romero Robledo, and Angulo, a former minister, Bayo, a banker, General Pavia and Marquis Sandone, are elected from Madrid. The ministerial journals estimate that the new cortes will embrace about thirty-five Sagastists, sixteen moderates and three republicans, and the remainder supporters of the government.

PARIS, January 24.—The Bonapartist association, styled as the national conservative committee, has issued a manifesto announcing their will to support President McMahon till the expiration of his term in 1880. They will then demand an appeal to the people to be made for determining the future form of the government for France.

Congressional.

WASHINGTON, January 25.—In the senate, West, of Louisiana, introduced a bill for the relief of J. Madison Wells, of Louisiana. Referred to committee on claims.

The Texas border committee took evidence from citizens of Texas here regarding raids.

No Grant parish decision to-day.

The house on Monday at call is progressing.

Geo. F. Johnston, of Alabama, is here with documents in the Senator Spencer case, and will lay them before the senate to-day.

The Spencer memorial of the Alabama legislature, was presented to the senate at 12 m. to day, by Senator Goldthwait, and referred to the committee on privileges and elections.

Referred to Attorney General.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—The president has referred a case to the attorney general as to the validity of assignments of awards rendered by the United States and Mexican commission, and as to the responsibility of the United States for such awards. The attorneys before the commission say there can be no doubt that the decision will be in accordance with the treaty and the facts in the case, namely: That the United States government is responsible for the awards to its own citizens, and will recognize all assignments legally made. The commission expires with this month, but the umpire has six months longer to decide cases referred to him.

A large number of members of congress have expressed themselves opposed to disturbing the tariff.

Murdered.

BOURBONVILLE, W. Va., January 23.—Charles F Neeling was found buried in his stable with his throat cut. Neeling's wife and her paramour were arrested, and she has confessed.

Popular.

So popular have Dr. Price's True Flavoring Extracts and Cream Baking Powder become that but few kitchens can be found where they are not used, and their introduction to any household is the advent of new pleasures at their table and higher delight in the lighter edibles supplied by the careful housekeeper. Dr. Price has succeeded in both these important domestic necessities, in producing articles hitherto unequalled. His flavorings are peculiarly delicious, and so highly concentrated that it takes but a small quantity to impart the natural flavor of the fruit. His Cream Baking Powder should be bought only in cans, as loose powder is largely adulterated and often sold as Dr. Price's when it is not.

Important to the Traveling Public

No one in making a trip of a thousand miles wants to sign away his privilege of stopping on the route, by taking a limited ticket, good for only five days, without even provision against accidental detention. The Great "Atlantic Coast Line," like "Midland Route," and the "Atlanta and Richmond Air-Line," are the only all rail routes selling unlimited tickets to New York, and the rate by either of these lines is the same as that selling limited tickets. Parties en route to New York will do well to remember these points. A call on R. D. MANN, General Passenger Agent, No. 4 Kimball house, who will SELL YOU TICKETS ON EITHER of the above lines, good until used, with the privilege of stopping off as often as desired. These routes read either via Richmond or via Danville and Lynchburg, but the buyer may prefer The latter carries passengers into Washington, Baltimore, &c., on same trains with those leaving Atlanta by the limited route, and both are as quick as the limited ticket sold.

CAMP & GILBREATH.

J. M. WILLIS ENJOINED FROM DISPOSING OF ANY OF THE GOODS.

It seems now that we are to have some lively legal tussling over another bankruptcy matter, to-wit: that of Messrs Camp & Gilbreath. This firm have lately been doing a wholesale business on Alabama street, and about two weeks ago went into voluntary bankruptcy. Previous to this they sold out to J M Willis. From their schedule it appears that their assets, consisting mainly of uncollected accounts, amount to between $7,000 and $8,000, while their liabilities amount to between $18,000 and $20,000

ALLEGED FRAUD.

A few days ago Messrs F Rover and Son, tobacco manufacturers of Virginia, and creditors of the bankrupts to some $300, became dissatisfied with the course matters were taking, and through their attorneys, filed a bill to enjoin Willis, of which the following is the substance:

Complainants say that on the 15th day of January, 1876, Camp & Gilbreath went into voluntary bankruptcy. On the 6th of January, 1876, only five days before the bankruptcy they sold out to James M. Willis, brother-in-law of Camp their entire stock. Willis claims to have paid $2,000 cash, and to have given notes for $12,000 more. The bankrupts' schedule shows no goods nor cash, but only one note on Willis for $8,000. Complainants charge that said sale was a fraud, and was made to prevent the stock from going into the hands of the assignee, and that said Willis knew of the fraud, and participated in it. That Willis himself was discharged from bankruptcy only within the last five months, and is now insolvent. That he is engaged now in shipping off the goods from Atlanta to diverse places of concealment, and hiding and secreting them as fast as he can. Complainants allege that the pretended sale to the brother-in-law of one of the bankrupts, himself a recent bankrupt, and a man notoriously insolvent, and the failure of said Camp & Gilbreath to include in their schedule the proceeds of said sale, or refer therein, either to the note or cash, which it is pretended they received from Willis, constitute a fraud so glaring as to be almost incredible, and so manifest that it cannot stand in any court.

The complainants pray that Willis be enjoined and restrained from receiving any of said goods from said store house on Alabama street, and from the further sale of any of said goods. Also from concealing, or attempting to conceal any of said goods, or in any manner changing the status of said goods until the further order of the court.

INJUNCTION GRANTED.

This bill was exhibited to Judge Erskine, and his honor took it under consideration. On Saturday, he granted the injunction as prayed for, requiring, however, that before its issue, complainants should give bond, with approved security, in the sum of $4,000, conditioned to pay defendants any damage that might accrue by reason of the wrongful suing out of the injunction. The bond was filed in the clerk's office yesterday, and the injunction a few hours later was served upon Willis. We learn that the defendants intend to move at once for an order dissolving it. This will bring the above bill to trial on its merits, but when the hearing will take place, we cannot yet say. Messrs. Hillyer & Bro. and W. S. Newman represent the complainants.

PARKGRASS.

—Mr H W J Ham, of the Warrenton Clipper, the livest weekly in middle Georgia, if not in the entire state, is in the city, and will call on our merchants in the interests of that journal. When Mr Ham drops in give him an ad, and you will find it bread on the waters that will return in a few days.

—Gen A R Lawton, wife and daughter, of Savannah, Ga., are at the Kimball.

—At the Kimball: Miss Phinizy, Athens; Gen Robert Toombs, Washington; Col P P Nelson, Dawson, Ga.

—Judge S H Hardeman and Col J C Read, are in town from Washington.

—Mr S S Floid, the popular ticket agent at Madison, returned from Florida last week, perfectly delighted with the country and especially with one of Florida's fair ones, who he had the pleasure of meeting down there.

—We saw on the train from Augusta to Atlanta, the other day, three hearty, stout looking young men, who were passed from Augusta to this city as paupers. They were drinking mean whisky, (however we did not taste it, but had the unpleasantness of smelling it), and smoking fine cigars and cursing by the wholesale. And still they come.

—While at Athens, we had the pleasure of attending the Good Templars centennial tea party. The party was given by the Good Templars, and participated by all in the city. Mrs. Lucus was the superintendent. All the beauty of Athens was out in full array. We learned that the receipts at the door and for supper, etc., amounted to $300 00, which rendered it a decided success, financially as well as otherwise.

—Augusta can boast of as intelligent and efficient lawyers as any city south. We are always glad when the time comes round to make a visit to this pleasant city.

—Augusta is one of the pleasantest cities in the south, and is becoming quite popular as a summer resort.

—We call special attention to the law card of Capt. Pope Barrow, who has returned to Athens, Ga., where he will resume the practice of law. All business entrusted to him will be promptly and efficiently attended to.

—Among other pleasant things we enjoyed during our stay in Augusta, was a most excellent dinner at the parsonage of St. James church. The pastor, Rev. H. H. Parks, had invited Gen. Evans and family, but owing to the inclemency of the weather, they did not get around. However, the table was full, and we all made a reputation for hearty eating.

—Mrs. Boyett's dinner house at Rutledge, is quite a desirable place by the time you arrive, either on the up or down train. Dinner at 2 o'clock, and only 50 cents.

—Dr. J. W. Hailey, one of the leading physicians of Gainesville, Georgia, was in the city yesterday.

—We spent a pleasant day in Covington last Sunday. It was the first quarterly meeting of the year, and as is customary at quarterly meetings, a love feast was held at nine in the morning, which was highly entertaining and edifying. The sermons, by Rev. E. A. Evans, the presiding elder, was one of great power. The large and appreciative audience was well entertained for more than one hour.

—We were amused to see an Atlanta man punch an old leaf of an almanac for the conductor for a thousand mile ticket.

—The business manager of the Georgia factory at Athens says that the concern is making no money, and that they are trying more to save than make.

—An Athens clerk in conversation with a young lady, said that you may talk about phosphates but the stable manure is the best, for my father has tried both.

—Prof. Waddell, secretary of the Georgia university, is now preparing a catalogue of the graduates of the institute, and as soon as completed, he will begin a series of articles for this paper, founded on the statistics of the catalogue.

—The meeting at the hall of the Young Men's Christian Association last Sunday evening was indeed pleasant. Rev. Mr. Duncan, chaplain of the senate opened the exercises by prayer and some appropriate remarks. Rev. W. F. Cook also made some very interesting remarks.

—Judge Isaac Clemons, of the Cumming Clarion, is in the city. The judge is an able editor, and edits one of the best weeklies in northeast Georgia. Our merchants would do well to give the judge a few advertisements.

—We were sorry to learn of the indisposition of our friend, Col. Frank Colley, from Washington, Wilkes county. We trust he will be able to take his seat to-day.

—For some days past we have noticed that the seat of the popular representative from Morgan, in the house, has been vacant, and we regret to learn that sickness was the cause. Our reporter, however, a day or two since, met our popular friend on his return from home, burdened with a basket of beautiful flowers arranged with a most exquisite taste, and it was suddenly revealed to my reporter what was the nature of the sickness(?) which had vacated his seat.

THE COMMISSIONERS.

Commissioner Smith yesterday tried George Duncan of Paulding county for working in an illicit distillery, and Benjamin L. Watkins, for running an illicit distillery. Both cases were made out. Duncan was required to give a bond of $500 and Watkins a bond of $100. Mr Darnell appeared for the defence.

Commissioner Buck had several cases before him late in the afternoon, but we did not learn the result.

FULTON SUPERIOR COURT.

HON. CINCINNATUS PEEPLES, JUDGE.

Court met at 9 o'clock pursuant to adjournment, and took up the criminal docket.

State vs William Jackson, colored. Assault with intent to murder George Fate. The assault was made December 23d on Peachtree street, and Fate was severely cut with a knife. Verdict guilty; sentence three years hard labor in the penitentiary. Wright & Wiel for defence.

State vs Minnie Terrell, colored. Burglary in the night time, stealing some preserves and other plants from W. F. Adams. She was allowed by the court to plead guilty to larceny from the house, and was sentenced to pay a fine of $50 and costs, and go to the chaingang for twelve months.

State vs Mat Mathen, colored. Simple larceny of $2.60 in money. Plea guilty, sentence fine of $75 and costs, or six months in the chain gang.

Court then adjourned until 9 o'clock this morning, when the case of William Rose, indicted for burglary in the night will be taken up.

TEMPERANCE.

The Good Templars of Atlanta Lodge No. 1, I. O. G. T., met at their hall on last night. The members of the general assembly and the public generally were invited to see the order in full regalia. After the audience had participated for some time in a very pleasant social meeting, the lodge was called to order by Mr. S. C. Robinson, G. W. S., after which there were a number of interesting speeches made. Capt. John Milledge was the first noticed, and made some very practical remarks. Mr. Scarratt, of New York, was called on. The gentleman made some remarks on the subject of temperance, and intimated that he did not believe in total abstinance. The question was put to him by the G. W. S. as to whether he practiced total abstinence. We did not exactly get his answer, but suffice it to say there was considerable laughter. Hon. J. C Shewmake, of Burke county, Hon. R. Hardeman, of Jones county, and Col. Thigpen, of Taylor county, were called upon for speeches, and responded in an able and practical manner. Another Scarratt was called upon and made some very pertinent remarks. He gave it as his opinion that the use of tobacco was the stepping-stone to the use of intoxicating drink. The last speech was made by Rev. C. J. Oliver. His remarks were very pertinent, and I must say they were as good as we have ever heard made by any one in an extempore speech. Three were initiated into the order, and six applied for membership last night.

CITY COURT.

HON RICHARD CLARK, judge.

His Honor Judge Richard Clark, opened the city court for the first time yesterday morning at nine o'clock. A number of the bar were present.

The judge made a few impromptu remarks on taking his seat, and said among other things that he would not name a solicitor pro tem at present, as there was no immediate necessity, and as the legislature would probably soon take some action with reference to his court, and provide for the appointment of a solicitor elsewhere. Should no change in the circuit be made, he would appoint the solicitor at the March term.

The judge further said that he intended at once to look into the business pending before the court, and keep it open until the jail cases were disposed of.

The court adjourned until nine o'clock a m to-day.

The following gentlemen have been summoned to serve as jurors for the week

BEN HILL'S TRIUMPH.

WHAT AN EYE-WITNESS SAYS OF THE SPEECH AND ITS SUCCESS.

We yesterday had the pleasure to meet again our old friend Gen. Jim Barnes, who has just returned from Washington city. Gen. Barnes was in the house on the day that Ben Hill, of Georgia, made his gallant defence of the south and won from unwilling fame the laurels which must now be his for all time to come.

HOW HILL LOOKED.

General Barnes says the galleries were jammed to suffocation and every eye was bent on Hill when he rose to address the house. Hill was in fine spirits and was fortified for his effort, and, as he proceeded from point to point, seemed to rise to the magnitude of the occasion and to inspire every one with the idea that a giant was in the arena.

No one can appreciate the force and grandeur of the speech by reading it. As it rolled forth from the mouth of the orator the words seemed to catch fire from contact with the air, and for two hours the crowd strained to catch every sound. Ever and anon a spontaneous burst of applause greeted one of the speaker's grand sentences, and men turned and shook hands with their neighbors as a high expression of satisfaction. Mr. Hill looked majestic and spoke every sentence as though he would impress everyone of the honest truth it contained. He looked majestic and his only variation from this appearance was when he was rudely interrupted by Blaine. Then he became sharper and said one or two things which he had not desired or intended to say.

HOW IT WAS RECEIVED.

Gen. Barnes saw no disposition to condemn Hill for his speech, and the only regret over it that he heard expressed, he thought could be traced to envy and jealousy. Every one recognized that Hill had at once raised himself to a position which others had labored to secure for years past. The general expressions were strongly for Hill and rejoicing at his triumph, while his political antagonists said they didn't believe his speech throughout, but did believe he was the greatest man from the south."

A NEW FACT,

not reported to us heretofore, appears to be that Mr. Hill's speech was in the exact line mapped out by a Democratic caucus held the night before for that purpose. He was told to "show up the southern side of the question," and he nobly did that needed work.

THE GILDED AGE.

RAYMOND IN HIS GREAT ROLE OF "COL. MULBERRY SELLERS."

We anticipated the over-crowded audience which assembled at DeGive's last evening to welcome the celebrated comedian, John T. Raymond. The wealth and fashion of the city crowded the parquette and circle, and the galleries were packed, the white spectators crowding upon the space allotted to the "men and brethren of the colored persuasion."

The play enacted is one founded upon Mark Twain's novel, "The Gilded Age," and the leading character is "Col. Mulberry Sellers," that valuable, sanguine and speculating gentleman of the quiet sunny, provincial style, whose vitality is irrepressible, and whose fancy is in extravagant disproportion to his judgment. Mr. Raymond has so thoroughly identified himself with this character and given it such life-like portraiture as to raise himself and the role to a rank in American comedy, almost equal with Joe Jefferson's "Rip Van Winkle," and John Owens' "Solon Shingle." The audience was kept in a glow of pleasure whenever he was before the scene, and his remarks constantly drew peals of laughter. Mr. Raymond's action and facial expressions throughout, were so characteristic of the type of man illustrated as to give the impersonation that cast of nature which is the highest excellence of dramatic art. From the opening to the closing scene, he was the centre of attraction, and nothing of the play will remain when the recollection of his peculiar characterization will be still viewed.

The "Laura Hawkins" of Miss Rose Hawkins was fair, the style of delectable semblance of reality and read the lines well, but the only point made was her only possible one, and that was at the killing of Selby. Her speech and action at this point were fervid and desperate and won the applause of the entire audience.

Mr. Rutledge gave an acceptable rendition to the role of "Col. Selby" but he does not fill the requisitions made in the portraiture.

The other characters were of no special merit and we must express wonder that Mr. Raymond permits himself no better assistance, unless it is for the same reason that beautiful Parisiennes make escorts of ugly girls, thereby to heighten the effects of their own beauty.

To-night "Col. Mulberry Sellers" will again appear to a crowded house.

TOWN TOPICS.

—There will be no meeting of the Atlanta bar association to-night, as it been postponed until Friday night.

—Mrs. S H Peck died at Stone Mountain on Sunday morning and was buried yesterday.

—The journalizing clerk of the house has a subdued look. What has come over the spirit of his dream?

—Judge Underwood of Rome, Col L M Trammell of Dalton, and Hon J T Shewmake of Augusta, are in the city.

THE MASKED BALL.

EVENING OF MIRTH AND PLEASURE.

The masked ball given last evening at James' hall by the Turn Verein society, will long be remembered as an epoch in the history of our German population. The entertainment was a scene of unalloyed pleasure from beginning to end, and while the number of maskers was not large, many of the costumes were superb. Our German friends can boast of many pretty girls, and last night nearly every one looked lovely. The galleries were crowded to overflowing with spectators, who remained until a late hour. The maskers began to arrive about eight o'clock, and kept pouring in until about ten, by which time the dancing had been fully inaugurated. Mr. Schane's band furnished very delightful music, and the gay dancers alternated from quadrille to waltz, with an enjoyment which seemed never to tire.

The Germans have won the reputation of being the most orderly of all people, and they fully sustained it last night.

Everything passed off as smoothly as could be desired, and nothing took place to mar the pleasure of any one.

At 12 o'clock a substantial supper was served, and the dancing was suspended to enable all to partake.

During the earlier part of the evening a tableau was arranged on the stage of some of the best costumes, which created much applause.

Among the best characters we saw was that of Madame de Pompadour, taken by a gentleman who completely deceived every one.

The clown, and the elephant were also good.

We give a list of those who were present in costumes, which contains very nearly all. We regret that we have not space to notice some of the more elaborate toilettes as fully as they deserve.

MALICIOUS MISCHIEF.

Yesterday morning, while a lady living out on the line of the Georgia road, was in the city to attend to some business, parties unknown to her entered her house, ate up all the cold food they could find, and from the evidences left in the wash-bowl must have given themselves very much needed ablutions. Then for the want of something better to do, they locked an old dog chain around the wheel of her sewing machine and carried away the padlock key. It required the services of a blacksmith to release the wheel. Such malicious mischief is outrageous, and, we doubt not, is one of the evils of allowing vagrants and tramps to infest the city.

THE END IS NOT YET.

The creditors and representatives of creditors of West, Edwards & Co., present in the city and another meeting yesterday to consider their present relations to the firm, and to take some action with reference to the compromise and the testing of the sureties upon the bonds. After some informal canvassing the meeting adjourned without any definite action at all and the end of this unfortunate affair does not appear to be any nearer to view now than upon the first day of the collapse.

A FREAK OF NATURE.

Two days ago a negro woman near the city gave birth to a male child, of healthy body and full proportions. It appears lively and able to become a voter at some distant day, but a singular mark upon its hands will always afford its identification. The two middle fingers on either hand are grown together, making one double finger, but sufficiently separated at the ends as to admit of two nails. The negroes in the neighborhood declare that the child was conjured before born, and prophesy that it will turn out to be a conjurer itself.

PISTOL PRACTICE.

Mr. L. Nathans Goes for Mr. Shelton Edwards With His Little Derringer.

Miraculous Escape of the Latter from Death.

Package of Letters and a Note Book Save His Life.

Full Particulars of the Trouble Between the Gentlemen.

For some time past Atlanta has been unusually quiet and free from violence of any sort. Pistol work, knife work, and other recreations of a similar character, with which gentlemen occasionally amuse themselves, and oftentimes at the expense of life or limb, seemed to have completely played out, and we were beginning to hope that we were to have a long season of peace and brotherly love. But "no man can tell what a day may bring forth," the truth of which trite saying was amply demonstrated at an early hour yesterday morning, for the first thing that a representative of THE CONSTITUTION learned as he started upon his daily labors, was that there had been a shooting scrape between two of our well known and prominent citizens, and that one of them owed his preservation from instant destruction to a bundle of letters and a note book, which stopped the pistol ball of his adversary. Men were full of the new sensation, and were discussing it eagerly at every corner, and as it passed from mouth to mouth, the story was often improved by such additions as a brilliant imagination could suggest before the occurrence was a half hour old, the latest account would have very much astonished the actors themselves could they have heard it. No collision between gentlemen in a long time has made such a profound impression upon our community as this, partly because both gentlemen are well known and have many friends, and partly because the escape of one from death is perhaps unequalled in the annals of pistol practice. After some little difficulty and much questioning we have succeeded in obtaining the following particulars which we place before our readers:

THE PARTIES.

The parties to the difficulty are Mr. Shelton Edwards, a member of the well known firm of West, Edwards & Co., and Mr. L. Nathans, formerly a traveling agent of the firm, but now in the employ of Messrs. McMillan & Snow, grocery merchants on Forsyth street. Mr. Edwards, we are informed, is a young gentleman about twenty-five or six years of age, is married and has many strong friends in the community. He has the reputation of being a quiet, inoffensive young man.

Mr. Nathens is a gentleman we'l advanced in life. He is sixty years of age, and claims that he never was in a personal difficulty before. Mr. Nathans has a wife and family, and is himself a small man, scarcely a match for Mr. Edwards in a hand to hand conflict.

THE EDWARDS SIDE OF THE STORY

Usually the best way to give the public the truth of any occurrence is to lay both sides before them. We will adopt that course in this emergency, and will begin by giving the facts as claimed by the friends of Mr Edwards. They may be relied upon as correct as they came to us directly from a gentleman who is thoroughly posted, and are as follows:

Mr Nathans had been in the employ of West, Edwards & Co., for about two years. He occupied the position of traveling agent, and was acting in that capacity at the time of the failure of the firm. Previous to this Mr. Nathans had collected a quantity of money, notes and assets belonging to West, Edwards & Co., amounting in all the firm was informed to about $1,500. Mr. Edwards frequently made a demand upon Mr. Nathans for a settlement, and his reply was that he had paid out a part of the money and didn't have time to give a statement then, but would do so. Yesterday morning, about half-past eight o'clock, Edwards accidently met Nathans in front of Messrs. McMillan & Snow's store. Edwards there told him again that they had been needing the money, and asked him why he had not turned it over. This was the third time Edwards had made this demand upon Nathans in the course of a month. Nathans again declined to make any settlement, saying he didn't have time. Edwards then abused and cursed him. Nathans replied to Edwards that

"IF HE BOTHERED HIM, HE (NATHANS) WOULD FIX HIM."

Nathans then insinuated that Edwards was a rascal. As soon as this insult was given, Edwards slapped his face. Nathans at once jerked a pistol out of the rear pocket of his pants and fired one shot. The parties were facing each other and standing so close together that the powder from the pistol burnt Edward's hand. The ball, which was a heavy conical one and was shown to the reporter, struck Edwards full in the left breast, about two inches below the level of his heart. It passed through his coat,

THROUGH SOME FIFTEEN OR TWENTY LETTER

he had in his breast docket, and flattened itself against a note book behind the letters. Edwards owes his life beyond a doubt to having the papers in his pocket. So great was the strength of the ball that it passed through 75 thicknesses of paper. The force of the blow from the ball staggered Edwards, as he recovered himself he picked up a stone to throw at Nathans, but he ran through the rear of McMillan & Snow's store and concealed himself, as Edwards was informed. Mr. Edwards then walked away from the spot.

THE OTHER SIDE.

After some search, the reporter found a young gentleman, the son of Mr. Nathans, who, in the absence of his father, gave the following statement, which he vouches for as being correct:

With respect to the notes, etc., belonging to West, Edwards & Co., Nathans says that his father sent them to Atlanta by express several days ago, and they are now in the express office here. Relative to the difficulty, his statement is as follows:

Father went into McMillan & Snow's store about 8½ o'clock yesterday morning, and as he went in met Mr. McMillan and Mr Edwards inside of the store near the door. Nathans put his hand out and shook hands with Edwards. They spoke a few words together, apparently on business, and then Edwards was heard to call Nathans a d—d rascal and a d—d thief, and use other abusive language.

Edwards also turned to Mr. McMillan and said "If you hire this man you employ a d—d scoundrel and a thief." He again turned to Nathans and renewed his abuse, calling him many opprobious names.

While Edwards was thus cursing he shook his fist in Nathans face. Nathans said, "Edwards, you can curse me, but don't you lay your hand upon me, for if you do me,

I WILL KILL YOU."

Edwards replied, "If you don't attend to that business before twelve o'clock, I will kill you, and put you where the devil won't get you, you d—d thief."

To this, Nathans replied, "There are more thieves in this town than one," and Edwards immediately thrust his fist into his face, and cursed him again. Nathans again replied, "I'll take your cursing, but if you hit me I'll kill you." Then Edwards struck him under the left eye with his fist staggering him back. As Nathans was recovering himself, Edwards jumped off the edge of the side-walk and picked up a rock. He was in the act of throwing the rock

WHEN NATHANS FIRED.

Mr. Nathans had just returned from a trip into the country, when he always carries a small pistol. The pistol is a breech-loading single barrelled derringer. When Nathans fired the parties were six or eight feet apart. After firing Nathans walked into the store, remained there a few moments, and then walked, when he was arrested. Edwards walked off.

TRIAL OF NATHANS.

Mr. Edwards, after the difficulty, swore out a warrant against Nathans before Justice Butt, charging him with assault with intent to murder. Nathans was arrested and promptly gave bond in the sum of $500 to appear before Justice McConnell, at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon. He is represented by Judge Cunningham, and Mr. Edwards is represented by Judge O. A. Lochrane.

DISPOSITION OF THE CASE.

The trial of Mr. Nathans for assault with intent to murder Mr. Shelton Edwards, which was set for a hearing before Justice McConnell at three o'clock yesterday afternoon, was continued until this morning. The postponement was agreed to by counsel on both sides, and the agreement made outside the court room. Somewhat of a crowd had collected to hear the evidence, but were disappointed. The case will be disposed of at nine o'clock if no further postponement takes place.

SENATE NOTES.

—The first batch of house bills were read in the senate yesterday.

—Senator Ribbee introduced the court stenographer bill in the senate yesterday. It is one of the most important and needed measures now before the legislature.

—The bill introduced by Senator Howell to incorporate "the Atlanta college of dental surgery" promises still another valuable institution to our city.

—The debate over one part of the dog question elicited much merriment among the lady visitors to the galleries.

—The clerks of the senate are always glad when some senator feels called upon to make a speech. They get a rest whether the rest of the senate does or not.

—The special order in the senate to-day is the bill by Senator Ribbee to re-organize the method of conducting the state treasury. It is an important measure.

A Blow at Liberty.

After the adjournment of the legislature yesterday, Si accosted one of the constant spectators of the gallery benches:

"What's de procesdin' dat 'em agertatin' de legislature now?"

"De dog law are up!"

"Whar's de law got ter do wid dogs, now 'spound dat?"

"Gwine tax de dogs five dollars a head, er kill 'em widout proberblecation—dat's how!"

"For truth? How's gwine kerlect de tax on a poor, mangy dog? What gwine ter kill 'im fur? What's de matter wid de legislatum, anyhow?" exclaimed Si.

"Nobber mind how! Dey's gwine ter do it an' dat's nuff!"

"Look at dat, now! Dat's agin de nigger, cz shore's yer born, kase when yer 'prives a nigger oh his vote an' his dog, whar am his liberty? Whar's de use ob kongres an' de 'mendments ter de 'mancermation procklymation? Dem's de facks I'm arter."

Then he moved on, shaking his old head dubiously.

Gen. Rob't. Toombs.

We are requested to announce that Gen Toombs will address the people at 7 o'clock to-night, in the hall of the house of representatives on the subject of a convention.

What cares he for the color of the rose,
Which would only vie with his little red nose;
What cares he for the buds of May,
Or of anything else but himself I pray?
Why, get what you can to wrap him in,
For it will soon be scented with camphor and gin.

And tuck him in t'ght, quite out of sight,
For to sooner his eyes will see the light,
Than he'll send up a yell which will last a spell,
And will make you judge him a downright "swell"
And you'll wish the thread he's now wrapped in,
Was not so very, very t'in.

—A statement was published in the Sun, from an English newspaper, to the effect that the lady Louisa Stuart, who died recently at Traquair House, near Peebles, Scotland, was the last of the royal house of Stuart and of the Traquairs. The Sentinel, Alexandria, Va., says that the great grandson of John, sixth Earl of Traquair, is living in Virginia. Lady Christian Stuart, daughter of this nobleman, married Judge Cyrus Griffin, who was the last president of the continental congress. Her grandson, Dr. James L. C. Griffin of Gloucester, county, Va., will present his claim to the British House of Lords to be recognized as the ninth Earl of Traquair.

Needless Suffering.

Many persons of weakly constitution, with dyspeptic and bilious tendencies, suffer life long bodily distress unnecessarily. Their existences are commonly shorter than those of healthier mortals, but while they last, it is usually the case that they are continually dosing themselves, or being dosed to no purpose. Could they be induced to use Hostetter's Stomach Bitters for a while, strength regained, and digestion restored, and the disappearance of bilious symptoms, would speedily acquaint them with the difference between a remedy which deals with causes, and those which affect symptoms. Not only are the Bitters a searching specific for complaints affecting the stomach, liver or intestinal canal, but they are, in consequence of their invigorative and bracing influence upon the entire physique, an admirable means of protecting the system against the atmospheric influences which beget malarial diseases.

NOTICE.

Georgia, Fulton county.—To the Superior Court of said county:

THE PETITION of the Atlanta Hook and Ladder Fire Company Number One, of the city of Atlanta, respectfully shows that heretofore, to-wit, at the April term, 1871, of said court, petitioner was incorporated by the order of said court for and during the period of twenty years, and petitioner asks to amend its said charter as follows:

1st. That by its said corporate name of The Atlanta Hook and Ladder Fire Company Number One, it shall have the right to have and use a common seal;

2d. That by said corporate name to sue and be sued, to implead and be impleaded, grant and receive and do all other acts as natural persons may, including the power of mortgaging any or all of its real or personal property;

3d. That by said corporate name to purchase and hold such real and personal property, as shall be necessary for the purpose of its incorporation;

4th. That it may adopt a constitution, by-laws and rules of order not inconsistent with the laws of this state and make such constitution, by laws and rules of order binding on its own members;

5th. That the officers of petitioner shall consist of a foreman, an assistant foreman, a secretary, a treasurer, a committee of two to be called a committee of investigation, and a committee of three to be called a finance committee, all of whom shall be elected in the manner and for such time as may be prescribed by the by-laws of the petitioner;

6th. That the foreman shall be the chief officer of petitioner, and shall with the treasurer make and sign all contracts appertaining to the business of petitioner, and such contracts shall be countersigned by the treasurer;

7th. That the other duties of the foreman and treasurer, and the duties of the other officers shall be regulated by by-law;

8th. That petitioner shall have the right to prescribe the manner of and condition for admitting and discharging members, as well as to require such dues from its members, and levy such fines for the violation of its by-laws as may be regulated by its said by-laws; and

9th. That after the expiration of the time for which petitioner was incorporated, it may have the privilege of renewal.

Petitioner further shows that heretofore to-wit, on the 25th day of August, 1871, for and in consideration of the sum of three thousand dollars ($3,000) it purchased the following described realest te from William B Berry, t at is to say: All that tract or parcel of land situated, lying and being in the city of Atlanta, county of Fulton, state of Georgia, being part of land lot No. seventy-seven (77) in the fourteenth (14) district of originally Henry, now Fulton county, and known as lot No six (6) of subdivision of the old Market lot; the same fronting twenty-five (25) feet on east side of Broad street, and running back at right angles sixty (60) feet, more or less, to an alley in the rear, according to the survey of said lot by the city surveyor adjoining the brick building of Joseph B Brown, on the north; said lot, and petitioner has erected thereon a four story brick building, which it now occupies with its horses, trucks and implements and for a section house, and petitioner prays that said purchase, together with the improvements made thereon, as well as all the purchases of personal property hereto fore made by petitioner, may be ratified and confirmed, and declared legal and valid to all intents and purposes, as if the express power to purchase and to hold real and personal property has been delegated to petitioner by the charter which petitioner now seeks to amend, and petitioner will ever pray.

ARNOLD & ARNOLD,
Att'ys for Petitioner.
